

South Orlando Animal Hospital

South Orlando Animal Hospital is able to provide boarding facilities for dogs, cats, and some small pets including rabbits and ferrets.

The kennel is centrally air conditioned and heated. Dogs are kept in spacious runs, and cats are kept in a separate room in large cages. The dogs are turned out in our exercise yards several times daily. Multi-dog or multi-cat families can be kept together in double runs or cat-condos.

Animals hospitalized for contagious diseases or boarders with suspicious symptoms are kept in a separate isolation ward.

Boarding Policies

- Reservations are necessary, especially during busy, holiday seasons. A deposit may be required.
- All animals must be current on necessary vaccinations. For cats, this includes a Feline Distemper-Rhinotracheitis-Calici Virus vaccine and a Rabies vaccine. For dogs, this includes a Distemper-Hepatitis-Leptospirosis-Parainfluenza-Parvo/Corona (DHLP-PC), a Bordetella vaccine, and a Rabies vaccine. The Bordetella vaccine helps protect your dog from Tracheobronchitis (Kennel Cough). A fecal test for intestinal parasites may also be required.
- Animals brought in with fleas or ticks will be treated upon admission at the owner's expense. Though every attempt is made to keep your pet clean, some pets do become dirty and require a bath during their stay.
- Boarders are fed a balanced diet of high quality pet food. A variety of prescription diets are available for pets with special needs.
- If you bring toys or treats for your pet, please make sure they are labeled. We prefer to provide our bedding and bowls for your pet. We can not be responsible for lost toys or bedding damaged in the laundry.
- Pets can be checked in and released only during regular hospital hours.
- Boarders are closely monitored during their stay. Medical problems which arise during boarding will be treated as necessary and charged to the owner's account. Emergency numbers are required for all boarders.

As owner or agent for the pet(s) named below, I have read and understand the Boarding Policies of South Orlando Animal Hospital. I accept full financial responsibility for charges incurred by my pet(s) while boarding.
